

FURIOUS ABOUT THE STATE OF OUR WATERS?

With the general election, we've never had a better chance to turn our anger into action.

Here are three questions to ask your local candidates:

1. What will you personally do to stop water users like me from getting sick when we use our favourite local spots?
2. In 2023 Water companies discharged untreated sewage at least 588,205 times across the UK. What will your party do to make sure water companies don't get away with breaking the law and profiting from pollution.
3. The system isn't working. What are your and your party's plans to reform the system to ensure water companies put human health and the environment first?
